Publisher's Note

The entries in this book are listed alphabetically. Sometimes a decision regarding where to place a particular entry has been problematic, particularly when dealing with bands, zines and so on whose names begin with 'A' or 'The'. If we believe the indefinite or definite article to be an inseparable part of the title (as, for example, in 'A Perfect Circle') then we have listed the entry under 'A'. If not, then look for the entry under the first letter of the second word (as with 'The Autumns'). Individuals are listed under their surnames – but as even this can sometimes be ambiguous, it's worth searching around!

The internet changes all the time. Sites come and go, existing sites establish new links or change out of all recognition. Every effort has been made by the author and publisher to check that all sites mentioned in this book are functional at the time of going to press, and offer relevant content. We are not, however, responsible for sites or links from sites that are irrelevant, disagreeable or may even contravene local laws and by-laws in particular countries, states or regions.
